Personal Spiritual Practices		Within Community		Generosity of Time, Talents/ Giftedness, and Financial Gifts		In Community (mission trips, service projects, faith-sharing, social action)
Exploring	I am learning about daily devotions and praying to find those that I want to practice.	I attend Sunday worship occasionally.	I am learning to see every person as a beloved child of God.	I attend seasonal church events and special church events.	I like to hear how my church meets the needs in the community.	I learn from the church about caring for others in the community.
	I am learning about Jesus.	I say the Lord’s Prayer during worship, grace before meals, and prayers at some point in my day (eg., in the morning or bedtime).		I am learning about ministry opportunities.	I like to hear stories from others about how they have been changed by either giving or receiving.	I occasionally help in the community in the fields of arts, academics, athletics, politics, charity, etc.
	I am learning the basics of the Christian faith.	I might be open to a friendly, mature Christian answering some of my questions.			I contribute with some Sunday offerings and some special offerings.	I am learning how to apply Christian ethics and faith in my world.
	I am learning about the Bible .
Beginning	I am occasionally doing daily devotions, including reading from the Bible.	I attend Sunday worship frequently.	I am learning to treat every person as a beloved child of God.	I participate in faith-formation groups and/or classes.	I am learning about the biblical view of giving and generosity.	I occasionally participate in community service through church ministries.
	I am looking for ways to incorporate spiritual disciplines into my life.	I participate in faith-formation groups and/or classes [small groups, home groups, etc.]	I go out of my way to be hospitable to members and guests in our church.	I attend or serve at church events.	I choose to give my TT/GFG regularly to/through the church.	I am learning how to apply Christian ethics and faith to social and political issues.
	I am learning about different ways I can let faith inform my life and decision-making.				I help a neighbor or a charity with my TT/GFG occasionally.
					I am learning to identify my own TT/GFG “story.”
Growing	I am frequently doing spiritual devotions, including occasionally incorporating some of the spiritual disciplines into my life.	I make Sunday worship a priority. Occasionally I am able to share a Bible or personal story of faith with family and/or friends.	I listen and try to help others with their spiritual questions, joys, and concerns.	I provide leadership for special church events.	I respond to God’s generosity by making an annual commitment and give in proportion to my income.	I regularly participate in community service through church ministries.
	I find myself looking for ways to apply what I read in the Bible and my devotions to my everyday life.	I can share with others how I connect with God through spiritual practices.	I am learning to share my faith through personal story.	I am open to being trained in church leadership (small groups, Bible class, ministry team, worship, etc.).	I share my TT/GFG regularly.	I invite others to try a variety of serving opportunities outside the church.
	I am open to learning about how to use other resources to understand the Bible better.	I invite others to faith-formation groups (mine or others).	I am more open to developing friendships with people in the church.	I’m interested in how to mentor another Christian in their own walk of faith.	I actively serve on a church committee or ministry team.	I assist the church to advocate for peace and justice for all people.
			I am open to learning how to pray with others.		I can share my own TT/GFG story.
Maturing	I am personalizing my devotional practices.	I provide some type of leadership and/or other service on Sundays.	I invite others to worship and church events.	I actively lead in some kind of ministry capacity .	I acknowledge God’s generosity by making an annual commitment and give in proportion to my income at a tithe (10%) or beyond.	I participate in ongoing service beyond the walls of the local church.
	I am able to incorporate extra-biblical resources into my personal Bible study.	I help organize faith-formation opportunities.	I am getting comfortable sharing my faith with others through invitation and witness.	I am open to training other for leadership in church administration, ministry, mission, etc.	I share my TT/GFG regularly.	I recruit and equip leaders for ministries and mission.
	I have a good sense about what a “lifestyle of worship” is, and I am actively trying to make it a hallmark of my day-to-day life.	I actively promote faith-formation inside and outside the church.	I am relatively comfortable praying aloud with and for other individuals.	I am open to mentoring another person in their walk of faith.	I am inviting other to participate on and/or be members of a church committee or ministry team.	I participate in a community peace and justice group.
				I am getting comfortable praying out loud in groups.
